

Harun SERPIL, (MA)

Harun SERPIL is currently working as the interpreter-translator and PA for the Rector of Anadolu University. He earned his undergraduate degree from the Department of Education in Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) at Anadolu University in 1996, and went on to get his MA degree in TEFL from Bilkent University in 2000. He is currently enrolled as a dissertator at the World Language Education Program of the School of Education, Department of Curriculum & Instruction at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, and expecting to earn his Ph.D. in summer 2014. He was also a visiting Erasmus scholar at The Estonian Aviation Academy in May 2014. Mr. Serpil has eighteen years of experience in language education; and worked at every level of language teaching, testing and curriculum design with a specific focus on Freirian critical pedagogy; racism and discrimination in education, intercultural communication, creative implementation of emerging technologies in language teaching, visual research in education and emerging technologies/web-based tools for language learning. Since his previous position involved teaching English to pilots, he is also interested in Aviation English and Airspeak.
